

Demonstration of Autonomous Rendezvous Technology (DART)

Case Study Transcript

Historical Implementation Context
C

Note that the project spans three NASA administrators representing a significant shift in risk acceptance philosophy - from Dan Goldin's Faster/Better/Cheaper paradigm to a more conservative risk posture following several changes in program management – also note the loss of the Space Shuttle Columbia in February of 2003.